DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. Figure 6 and 7 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g). Corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Specification

2. The specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 2834

4. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

5. Claims 1-4 and 6-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Leroux (US 4292532) and Tawse (US 4211945). Leroux teaches a generator with a rotor and stator excitor (each having coils) connected to a rotor and stator (each having coils) of a generator via a rectifier 38, with a turbine prime mover connected to the shaft. Leroux does not teach the generator generators having an axial air gap, the same rotor member, or connected stators mounted on opposite sides of the rotor. Tawse teaches an axial air gap for the generator having coils on the stator and rotor, with current transferred across and axial air gap by a slip ring mounted on the same member 43 as the generator, where the generator is outside the sliprings. Tawse teaches stators on opposite sides of the rotor and connected by the casing. It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to construct the generator of Leroux across an axial air gap because Tawse teaches increased output due to a linear and modular system.

6. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Leroux (US 4292532) and Tawse (US 4211945), in further view of Abukawa et al. (Abukawa)(JP 58-051762): Leroux and Tawse teach every aspect of the invention except the generator diametrically mounted within the excitor. Abukawa teaches the exciter coil 12 outside the generator coil 3 to provide a reduced size generator. It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to construct the generator of Leroux and Tawse, with the exciter coil outside the generator coil to provide a compact generator as taught by Abukawa, and because rearranging parts is within the ordinary skill in the art (In re Japikse, 86 USPQ 70).
